WESTERN SUFFOLK BOCES REGIONAL PUBLIC SCHOOL ENROLLMENT 2009-2018

During the historical period 2009 - 2015, there was an overall 8.3% decline (7,371 students) in enrollment in the Western Suffolk BOCES region - from a period high of 89,158 students in 2009 to 81,787 students in 2015. The most significant losses were in the elementary (K - 5) and middle grade (6 - 8) configurations, with losses of 13.7% (5,377 students) and 9.8% (2,107 students), respectively; the high school grades (9 - 12) recorded a smaller loss of 407 students, or 1.4%, during this period. Smithtown remains the largest district, with 9,397 students, while Babylon is the smallest district, with 1,566 students.

Between 2014 and 2015, enrollment increased in one district (Wyandanch, 3.9%) and remained stable in seven districts (change of less than 1.5%): Amityville, Cold Spring Harbor, Copiague, Huntington, North Babylon, South Huntington and West Babylon. Enrollment declined approximately 1.7% - 4.1% in the ten remaining districts. For the six years between 2009 and 2015, gains were seen in three districts (Amityville, Copiague, Wyandanch) and losses in 13 districts, while enrollment remained stable in two districts (Huntington and South Huntington).

Overall regional enrollment is projected to further decline by 5,238 students (6.4%) over the next three years; smaller decreases are projected in the elementary and middle grades when compared to the last six years, while greater losses are expected in the high school grades as smaller cohorts progress through the system.

- The elementary (K - 5) enrollment is projected to decline by 7.1% over the next three years, with a decrease of 2,397 students between 2015 and 2018.
- The middle school (6 - 8) enrollment is projected to decline by 6.3% over the next three years, with a decrease of 1,219 students between 2015 and 2018.
- The secondary (9 - 12) enrollment is projected to decline by 5.7%, or 1,575 students, between 2015 and 2018.

Lower birth levels result in smaller kindergarten cohorts. Suffolk County births have declined during the last two decades, dropping from 21,252 in 1990 to 15,535 in 2014 (preliminary data). Consequently, kindergarten enrollment has also declined in recent years, with a 16.6% decrease between 2009 and 2015. This has significantly impacted district enrollments as smaller kindergarten classes have replaced larger exiting twelfth grade classes in each year of the historical period.

Gains or losses in enrollment are also reflective of housing activity; new housing construction or re-sale of existing homes are important factors when analyzing potential school enrollment. Records between 2009 and 2014 show an increase in housing sales in the three towns - Babylon (26.5%), Smithtown (19.2%) and Huntington (27.8%). However, when comparing the number of units sold from 2013 to 2014, two towns saw decreases - Huntington (9.1%) and Smithtown (9.2%), while Babylon recorded an increase of 1.5%. The median sale price remained stable in Huntington and Smithtown between 2013 and 2014, while Babylon recorded a 3.6% increase during this period. Although there are indications that the market is stabilizing, housing turnover remains at a lower level when compared to the mid-2000's.

During the last five years, the Western Suffolk BOCES Office of School Planning & Research has conducted over 160 planning studies for school districts on Long Island and in the Hudson Valley region. Comprehensive Long Range Planning Studies include analysis of demographic factors that have influenced historical enrollment or have the potential to impact future enrollment. These factors include population, births, housing, the economy and non-public school attendance.
